RUTA DE LAS FLORES: COLONIAL AND ARTISANS TOWNS – THE COFFEE REGION.....$95.00

Today you will visit magic places full of nature and amazing views. This route is specially recommended for those interested in cultural things and nature lovers. Since we departure from San Salvador, you will enjoyed on the entire route, the impressive land of El Salvador. You will pass across the City of Sonsonate and then take a road to Ahuachapán, on this way there is a series of towns with a lot of cultural traditions and beautiful mountains around them. The first town will be Nahuizalco, characterized for having strong pre-Columbian traditions. This is one of the country's most important indigenous and crafts populations. Baskets and furniture woven from natural fibers such as "Tule" and wicker dress up the streets. Its colonial church and the nocturnal market, lighted with candles, are an attraction in itself. In the heart of the route we find Salcoatitan. Its white colonial church in front of the Central Plaza is one of its main attractions. It was here where the first coffee tree was planted, a profitable item that supports the local economy.

We continue our tour towards Juayua, famous for its Black Christ. This beautiful town is of coffee tradition and it envelopes an extraordinary climate and nature. From the verandas we can observe the natives picking up the coffee beans. We will also visit the town of Apaneca where we will find lots of crafts and shops that work the coffee wood. Here the flowers grow in abundance and the constant breeze expels pine and coffee scents. We will finalize our trip at Concepcion de Ataco, a preColumbian town established by the Pipiles tribe (descendents of the Mayas) and located in the heart of the mountain where its cobblestone streets and lanterns take us back in history. Enjoy the serenity of a town in the mountains. The locals elaborate colorful textiles in traditional pedal looms. Amongst their crafts variations they also fabricate musical string instruments. In this zone we have several tours options (not included): visit a Coffee factory, a Canopy tour, mountain biking, horseback riding, Buggy tours, trekking/hiking, etc.

Included: transportation, tour guide Recommendations: comfortable walking shoes, sun block, light clothing, raining cape, hat, sunglasses. Cash for souvenirs shopping Departure: 8:30 A M
